FADING AWAY

They say
She's only growing older
But I
Just know they are wrong
Sometimes she cries
And doesn't know why

She knows
She's fading away
A little each day
Fading away, fading away
Away, away

They say
She's only growing older
That vacant look
In her eyes
Tells me they're wrong
She used to be strong

But now
She's fading away
A little each day

She used to know their names
But now they're all the same
They come and they go
And she doesn't know
Who they were
The present
Means nothing to her

She's fading away
A little each day
Away, away

They say
She gets a little slower
The twilight hour
Of her life
Clear is the past
Today doesn't last

She knows
She's fading away
A little each day
Fading away, fading away
Away, away
